Director of Choral Activities and
Professor of Conducting
Eastman School of Music
Rochester, New York

Accompanist
Connie Bilyeu
Springfield, Missouri

Dr. Donald Neuen, Director of Choral Activities and Professor of Conducting at Eastman School of Music, previously served on the faculties of Ball State University, and the Universities of Wisconsin and Tennessee. During 1970-72 he held the joint appointment of Director of Choral Activities and Assistant Conductor for Robert Shaw and the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra.

Dr. Neuen's experience ranges from teaching elementary music, junior high and high school, to church music and singing professionally with the Robert Shaw Chorale. He has conducted all-state choruses, state and national church music workshops, and ACDA/MENC clinics in 30 states and Canada.

Prior to joining the Eastman faculty in 1981, he served as president-elect of the Tennessee chapter of ACDA. His responsibilities at the Eastman School of Music include teaching graduate classes in conducting and choral techniques, conducting the Eastman Chorale, and administering the masters and doctorate degrees in choral conducting.
